- Comment must be manually approved
- Comment author must have a previously approved comment

In this menu, you can apply global (through the entire website) changes to the WordPress commenting system on your website. Since Hotel Booking Reviews add-on works through these native WordPress comments, the same settings will work for accommodation reviews. In plain words, reviews are comments with enhanced functionality (star rating, average rating, etc.).

For example, you can make the first and last name required, turn on Gravatar images, set up the comments to be approved manually by the website admin (to reduce spam), etc.

The rating system will be switched on only for the “Accommodation types” pages. On the rest of the website pages users can interact through the default WordPress commenting system.

Adding Rating Types

Rating types are property rating criteria you can allow travelers to evaluate your accommodation by (e.g. value for money, cleanliness, etc.). You can add unlimited criteria via Accommodation → Rating Types.

Add New Rating Type Form:

- Name: cleanliness
The name is how it appears on your site.
- Slug: (empty)
The "slug" is the URL-friendly version of the name. It is usually all lowercase and contains only letters, numbers, and hyphens.
- Description: (empty)
The description is not prominent by default; however, some themes may show it.
- Button: Add New Rating Type

Table of Existing Rating Types:

<input type="checkbox"/>	Name	Description	Slug	Count
<input type="checkbox"/>	Breakfast	—	breakfast	0
<input type="checkbox"/>	Location	—	location	0
<input type="checkbox"/>	Value for money	—	value-for-money	0

All of them will appear under all accommodation types you have on your website.

Important: You need to add at least one rating type for the star rating to work.

All guests who want to leave a review and assess your accommodation must evaluate it by each criterion (this way the average rating can be generated).

Note for non-English or multilingual websites: since rating types are created as a regular WordPress taxonomy, you can easily translate them with your favorite WordPress translation plugin.

Writing and Displaying Reviews

By default, Reviews functionality is automatically enabled for all “Accommodation types” listed on the website. It includes:

- “Write a review” button.
- Reviews counter along with the average “Accommodation type” rating (the average number is based on all reviews left under the “Accommodation type”).
- The list of Rating criteria (the average criterion rate is generated based on the number of all reviews left for each criterion).
- A simple feedback form for leaving a written review.

Reviews in Widgets

You can also feature already posted reviews in any widget zone your WordPress theme supports (e.g. sidebar) to encourage prospective customers.

To find, configure and add Reviews to widgets, go to Appearance → Widgets → find “Accommodation Reviews” widget, then drag and drop it to the chosen widget zone:

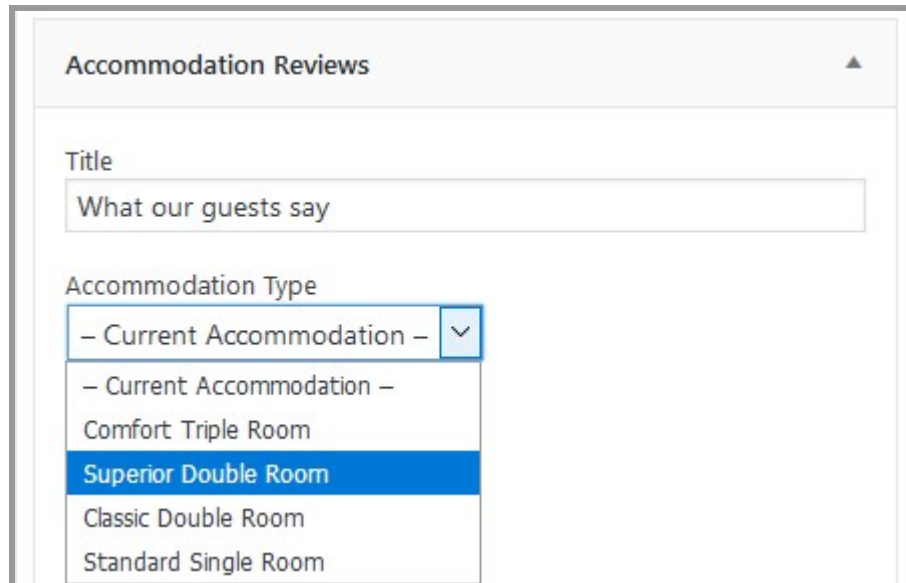

The screenshot displays the WordPress Widgets interface. On the left, under "Available Widgets", the "Accommodation Reviews" widget is highlighted with a red box. A red arrow points from this box to the "Accommodation Reviews" widget in the "Sidebar" widget zone on the right. The "Sidebar" zone is also highlighted with a red box. The "Accommodation Reviews" widget in the sidebar is configured with the following settings:

- Title: What our guests say
- Accommodation Type: - Current Accommodation -
- Reviews Count: 3
- Show Rating Types: Yes
- CSS Class: (empty)

At the bottom of the widget configuration, there are "Delete" and "Save" buttons.

It comes with a couple of settings:

- Custom title to draw attention.
- Accommodation type: if set to “Current Accommodation”, the widget will show recent reviews of the accommodation type a website visitor is viewing. Optionally, you can choose to display reviews of any other selected accommodation.

The image shows a settings panel for a widget titled "Accommodation Reviews". It features a "Title" text input field containing the text "What our guests say". Below this is an "Accommodation Type" dropdown menu. The dropdown is currently open, showing a list of options: "- Current Accommodation -" (selected), "Comfort Triple Room", "Superior Double Room" (highlighted in blue), "Classic Double Room", and "Standard Single Room".

- Set the number of recent reviews to display.
- Select whether the detailed rating criteria (Rating types) need to be displayed.
- Optionally add custom CSS classes.

Here is how reviews can look in a sidebar widget (Ciestra theme) -

Shortcodes (embed reviews into any page)

In addition to the “Accommodation types” pages and widgets zones, you can add already posted reviews to any page or post using shortcodes. For example, you can create a separate Reviews page, display reviews on the front page, etc.

For this, you need to copy and paste the following shortcode to the page where reviews need to be displayed.

[mphb_accommodation_reviews]

To customize the look of your reviews, extend your shortcodes with the following parameters:

'id' - accommodation type ID to display reviews of the chosen accommodation type (to find out the ID, go to the needed Accommodation Type and hover the mouse over the accommodation title).

'count' - designate how many reviews to show.

'columns' - designate the number of columns.

'show_details' - designate whether "Rating types" need to be displayed (if set to false, only the average Accommodation type rating will be displayed).

'show_form' - designate whether the "Write a review" button needs to be displayed.

'show_more' - designate whether the "Show more reviews" button needs to be displayed.

'class' - optionally add a custom CSS class to style layout.

Examples of a custom shortcode:

```
[mphb_accommodation_reviews id="94" columns="3" count="3" show_form="false" show_details="false" show_more="false"]
```

Villa reviews (3-column grid)

```
[mphb_accommodation_reviews id="1300" columns="3"]
```

Note: only people with the user role “Admin” have the authority to approve reviews (WordPress Dashboard → Users).

Warning: If you deactivate the plugin, the written feedback will be kept intact and will still be displayed as comments. However, the star rating will be lost.

Styling Reviews

The add-on will integrate with the default WordPress Comments output as much as possible. If your theme has styling applied for comments, then it's most likely that the reviews will look very much like your comments.

Integrate Third-party Plugins

Since MotoPress Hotel Booking Reviews add-on operates through the native WordPress Comments system, you may optionally use other WordPress plugins to improve your reviews from both perspectives: admin's (hook up plugins that deal with spam protection, for example) and user's (give them more options to write more informative reviews, for example, allow to add photos to reviews).

FAQ

Can only real guests who stayed at the property leave reviews?

No, currently the system can't check this; anybody can leave a review. So far, you need to moderate all reviews through the WordPress Comments.

Do users need to be logged-in to post a review?

No. You can set up the rules via Settings → Discussion.

Can guests leave reviews without stars?

No. In order to send a review, guests must evaluate a property by each Rating type you published.

Can I allow reviews for individual rooms of one accommodation type?

No. Reviews are left by guests for the “Accommodation types”, not separate rooms of this category.

Can I translate Rating types?

Yes. Rating types can be translated with any WordPress translation plugin.

Can I display the average hotel / property rating based on all reviews?

Currently you can't display the average rating of the entire hotel / property based on ALL reviews received for all accommodation types. The average rating can be shown only for a specific Accommodation type. However, using [mphb_accommodation_reviews] you can display all reviews, but the average rating won't be calculated.

Can I combine regular WordPress comments and reviews on the Accommodation type page?

No. If the Hotel Booking Reviews add-on is activated, all comments on the Accommodation type pages will be converted into reviews. Users can leave comments on all other website pages.

Will I lose my star rating with the Hotel Booking Reviews add-on deactivated?

Yes, but the written feedback will remain displayed as regular WordPress comments.
